DINWIDDIE COMPANY
SUIT RECALLS A DISASTER

The suit of John H. Semar against the Dinwiddie Construction company and others filed today, recalls the caving in of the cement roof of the Eccles garage on Jefferson avenue and Twenty-seventh street, June 8, 1914, entombing six men, two of whom died of their injuries.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff was caught under the heavy mass of concrete and badly crushed, receiving injuries of a permanent nature, his right ankle joint being dislocated and the muscles badly torn and lacerated, causing him to suffer a "flat foot" and "fallen arch," and that he has been compelled to walk on crutches, all to his damage in the sum of $25,000 in general, and $3500 in a special way.

The Dinwiddie company was the contracting party for the construction of the garage, but Mrs. Bertha Eccles, David C. Eccles and L. R. Eccles and Royal Eccles are made parties to the action.

CLOTHING OF CHILD
BURNED FROM THE BODY

Joseph, the six-year-old son of Joseph Laucirica, the owner of the Paris rooming house at 2548 Wall avenue, came screaming into the home with his clothes ablaze. Before the flames could be extinguished, only a fringe of cloth an inch wide remained, and the little fellow was burned from his face to his waistline.

How his clothing took fire, no one knows. He had been absent from the kitchen only five minutes when he returned a pillar of fire.

The child's ultimate recovery is hoped for, but the doctor in attendance says only one in a hundred survive burns so severe.

ARTESIAN WATER TO FLOW INTO CITY
BY AUGUST 1

It is expected, says Mayor Fell, that connection of artesian wood stave pipe line from the intake of the city's artesian wells with the Wheeler creek intake line at Idlewild, will be made in time to turn the artesian water into the city reservoirs August 1.

The concrete intake at the municipal wells is practically completed and pipe connections with the water flows of the individual wells will be made in the course of the next few days. In the meantime the Green Construction company is rapidly digging trench and laying wood pipe between the wells and the Wheeler creek connection.

While the connection is being made with the Wheeler creek pipe line at Idlewild, arrangements have been made to supply the city with water from the emergency pipe connecting the main line at Coldwater canyon with the big pipe line of the Utah Power & Light company. It is expected that it will take about 12 or 14 hours to make the connection, as the material in the connections is heavy and it will require derricks to raise the pipe to the proper level, and then considerable skill will be needed in connecting the joints.

Trench digging for the steel pipe between Coldwater and the Idlewild connection is in progress and the pipe will be placed in position before the fall of the year. When the steel pipe shall have been laid it will be connected with the Coldwater line and the artesian wells line at Idlewild, thus making a double pipe line leading into the city reservoirs. From the reservoirs a double main system is now in operation in Washington avenue, one on Twenty-fifth street and the other on Twenty-third street. From the eighteen wells in the canyon it is said that there will be a supply of water of about 10,000,000 gallons each twenty-four hours or more than enough to supply the present needs of the city, even in the hot summer months when the greatest quantity of water is used.

DRY FARM LANDS OF UTAH ARE MOST PRODUCTIVE

R. C. McBride and family have returned from a trip of two weeks to their old home at Fillmore.

Mr. McBride traveled over a vast area of dry farm lands, some of which he thought would produce 35 or 40 bushels of wheat to the acre. He had the pleasure of looking over dry farm crops belonging to a number of Ogden people in the vicinity of Fillmore, Meadow Creek and Kanosh.

Millard county is a large county in area, and it is the opinion of Mr. McBride that it is a question of only a short time, when most of the lands will be reclaimed, either by dry farming or the conservation of flood waters in the streams.

SHURLIFF HOME IN HARRISVILLE IS DESTROYED

The home of Horace L. Shurliff in Harrisville was totally destroyed early this morning by fire. The family had just moved the furniture and clothing from man old adobe house into the new brick house and were sleeping in the rooms downstairs for the first time. The fire started, it is supposed, from the electric wires. Neighbors were awakened about 2 o'clock and formed a bucket brigade, but the only source of water was the well and that soon went dry.

The family had no time to save a thing. As a result of the fire, they are in embarrassed circumstances. In the family are eight children, the oldest 17 years, and the youngest 3 months.

The city fire department was called at 2:55 a. m., but as the house is beyond the city limits, they could not answer the call.

DISCREPANCY IN SALT LAKE COUNTY FUNDS.
 Salt Lake, July 17.—The Tribune says: A discrepancy of more than a million dollars between the accounts of the treasurer and the auditor, declared to be due to a clear violation of law, is laid bare in the report of F. P. Sullivan, special accountant, submitted to the country commissioners yesterday.

Laxity in tax collections as a result of which many well-known and prominent citizens escape payment of personal taxes, also is revealed. A practice, said to have been followed for twenty years, whereby county treasurers were in the habit of appropriating to their personal use excess money accumulating in the treasury through errors or otherwise is denounced by the accountant, who urges that the county should proceed to recover such sums from its ex-treasurers wherever possible.

The report covers a period from July 1, 1913 to December 31, 1914, and does not implicate the present administration.

Fred C. Bassett was treasurer and C. Roscoe Vigus was auditor during that time. Bassett owes Salt Lake county $919.80 for the years 1913 and 1914, according to the report, having appropriated to his personal account that amount of excess money, it is alleged.

Constipation is caused by overeating, hurried eating, too much heavy food and too little of the fruits and vegetables.

Woolen underwear is unwholesome at any time of year, but to wear it in the spring is to outrage Nature.
